Rector: Rev. W. E. Brown

Twentieth Sunday after Trinity—

Young People's service 11 a.m.

Sunday school 12 noon.

This is children's day and youth

Sunday. A failure to provide adequately for the religious training of the church's children and youth will mean that, in the days to come, we shall have no leaders, no workers, no

givers, to make possible the fulfilling of the church's marching orders to go into all the world and teach all nations. If the springs dry up, the stream will soon cease to flow.

Thursday, War Intercession at 7:30 p.m.

JOSEPH KRKOOSKY LAID TO REST

The largest attended funeral of one person in the history of the Crow's

Nest Pass, and possibly Southern Alberta, was that of Joseph Valentine

Krkoosky, which took place on Sunday afternoon. Following service at the home, the procession was formed, led off by the Bellevue band, members of

Pass legal unions and the Slovak Mutual Benefit Society, followed by fully three hundred cars. Route of procession was north on Ninth Avenue, west on Victoria Street and north to the Union cemetery, where the formal last rites were witnessed by close to three thousand men, women and children. At the graveside, services of the United Mine Workers of America were conducted by William Arland, president of the Blairmore local, and by John Danco, for the Slovak society.

A special truck, was loaded with wreaths and flowers, testifying to the esteem in which deceased was held.

Funeral services were Samuel Bannan,

William Arland, William Gray, S.

Parce, Guido Martini and G. Rhys.

Born in Czechoslovakia, Joe came to Canada and the Crow's Nest Pass with his parents when a very young lad. He received his education in the Blairmore schools. He was a member of the Blairmore town council and the Blairmore-Frank unit of the Victory Loan organization, and was ever keenly interested in all matters pertaining to the betterment of the district and his fellow men. His place as such will be hard to fill.

The Enterprise extends its sympathy with the surviving relatives, including wife, Mrs. Vera, and younson Gary; his parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Joseph Krkoosky, and brothers John and Martin, and Anne.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of A. E. Ferguson, of the Crow's Nest Funeral Home.

DEATH FOUND ACCIDENTAL

The inquest into the death of Joseph

V. Krkoosky was held at the court house on Friday evening last, Coroner Donald MacPherson presiding.

The jury was composed of J. L.

Greco (foreman), Harry Gardiner,

John J. Robinson, J. H. Wyatt, J. C.

Atkinson and Charles Daniels. After hearing evidence, the following verdict was reached:

"We, the jury, find that Joseph Valentine Krkoosky came to his death

while following occupation as miner

at Greenhill mine, Blairmore, at about 11:40 a.m., on Wednesday, October

11th, 1944, presumably from being struck on the head by a piece of coal, causing a fractured skull and other head injuries.

"The jury is satisfied that death was purely accidental, with no blame

attached to anyone."

VICTORY LOAN SUNDAY AT CHURCHES

Sunday next will be observed as

Victory Loan Sunday in churches, when ministers will deal in part with the forthcoming Victory Loan and its importance towards winning the war and thus hastening the homecoming of all loved ones to their families and friends throughout the Allied world.

All citizens should put forth a special effort to attend.

The annual meeting of District 1,

of the Brickbat Assembly, was held in the Anglican hall here last night.

WM. ABERCROMBIE PASSES

William Abercrombie, aged 79, well known building contractor, passed away in Calgary on Saturday morning last following a lengthy illness.

Born in Grathis, Abercrombie

Scotland, he came to Calgary about thirty-four years ago, where he has since made his home. He was superintendent of the Clayton Bros. contracting firm until 1918, when he went into business partnership with

W. Watson, forming the company known as Watson & Abercrombie. He superintended the construction of the beautiful courthouse building in Blai-

more and other buildings in this district, and was very well known locally.

The remains were laid to rest in a

Calgary cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

UNITED CHURCH SUNDAY NIGHT

"A night with Great Hymns of the Church" will be the subject of Sunday night's service at Central United church. Come early and sing your favorite hymns. The service will be conducted by Rev. W. E. Brown.

A letter from Alberta's war finance committee will be read during the service. Everyone invited to attend.

John Hrpka, when asked how many feet there were in a yard, replied:

"Two if they're like mine." John has been suffering from a swollen foot

for about two weeks.

The sixty-second annual congress of the Salvation Army opens in Toronto

tomorrow for a five-day session. Commissioner B. Oranese will be in command. Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock a music festival is being staged in Massey hall, and on Sunday at 3 p.m.,

the congress assembly, at which W.

Sherwood Fox, M.A., will preside, and Commissioner Oranese will deliver an address on "William Booth's place in history."

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ankle and daughter

Edith, of Pincher Creek, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Everett on Sunday.

A. V. Jackson, of Toronto, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bundy

the early part of the week.

Henry Franz and Ed. Labrie, of Brocket, were visitors here on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smyth, accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Stow, were Monday visitors to Lethbridge.

Miss Lillian Porter, of Lethbridge, is visiting her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. George Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Easterbrook and two small children, of Delacour, were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs.

Albert Cleland the early part of the week.

Miss Mary Moore, of Pincher Creek, was a week-end guest of Miss Edith Murphy.

Mrs. Sidney McCabe, who has been most of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Morrison for the past two weeks, returns to her home at Grand Forks, BC, this week end.

Miss Anne Papp is attending the school of Technology and Fine Art

in Calgary.

Jock Labrie, of the RCAF, who is on furlough with his parents at Brockton, spent a few days here with old school chums before returning to eastern Canada.

Robert Hepple, of the RCAF, accompanied by his wife, of Vancouver, will return this Friday, following a two weeks' leave spent at the parental home of Mr. and Mrs. Duart

Thibert.

The ladies of the Cowley Red Cross school chums realized over fifty dollars at a luncheon served at the Lundsbeck stock sale on Friday last.

Four potatoes taken from a garden

at Clive, Alberta, had a combined weight of 14 pounds 4 ounces. The largest was 4 pounds 4 ounces.

THE SEA WILL GIVE UP TREASURE

to men who think of tomorrow

SALVAGE SUBMARINE OF TOMORROW!... Already more than 40 million tons of shipping have been sunk in World War II. What a treasure trove of valuable metals and non-perishable cargoes may be reclaimed with these powerful undersea craft... equipped with salvaging cables and with decompression chambers for diving operations. They're coming... planned by men who think of tomorrow!

MEN who think of tomorrow are planning many startling post-war engineering enterprises. The salvage of deep sea treasure by giant submarines is one of the most practical... and profitable.

But until the day arrives when men and machines are free for such fascinating exploits, we have a lot of salvaging to do on the home front!

For instance, the need for waste paper has never been more urgent than it is now. Are you salvaging yours?... Gigantic quantities of explosives must continue to flow across the sea to our armed forces. That takes glycerine and glycerine takes kitchen fats. Are you salvaging every drop you can?

There is no respite for anybody in the kind of a war we're waging. None for the soldier, none for those at home... None of us is through with the job until the last enemy flag comes down. And that means, among other things, buying more and more War Savings Certificates and Victory Bonds, and it means hanging onto them, too!

Tomorrow will come, as it always has... but it will be the brighter for the sacrifices we make today. Let us all be MEN WHO THINK OF TOMORROW... and get ready for it NOW!

ODD BITS ABOUT OUR ARMED FORCES

Major Michael David Mitchell, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, 40, of Maple Creek, Sask., who has been camp medical officer at Chilliwack, B.C., has been promoted acting-lieutenant-colonel and appointed to command Shilo Camp Military Hospital and to be camp medical officer at Shilo Camp, Man., the Defence Department announced.

German prisoners-of-war interested in Canada are not idle. Vegetables grown in internment camp gardens frequently supplement standard rations. German bakers, chefs and butchers prepare meals for their fellow-prisoners. In camp workshops interned make furniture, clothing and other useful articles, as well as preparing shoes and equipment.

Makeshift is a fact with Army Show detachments behind the lines. With little facility for moving equipment, the troops travel light and seize on anything handy to rig up props for their show. Truck platforms, empty T.N.T. cases, even Spitfire crates have formed impromptu stages for the laughing, singing, dancing, wise-cracking young Canadians.

Periods of convalescence for wounded Canadian soldiers will be shortened considerably in the future, and the men will be returned to duty without a drastic loss of weight. Reasons for the improvement is a new "milkshake" incorporating various body-building elements and supplementing regular meals. Developed by Medical Corps Research workers, the "milkshake" will be given twice daily to wounded soldiers in hospital.

The real estate agent decided to be unusually frank with his prospective customer. "Of course," he said, "this house has a few drawbacks. It is bounded on the north by the civic gas works; on the south by a synthetic rubber plant; on the east by a vinegar works, and on the west by a glue-manufacturing plant. "But," continued the agent, before his prospective customer could protest, "There are advantages. The rent is cheap, and you can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

Major Robert Stephen, 53, of Ottawa, has been promoted acting-lieutenant-colonel and appointed assistant-director, Postal Services, Base Post Office, Ottawa, the National Defence Department announced. Lieut. Col. Stephen has been serving as deputy-assistant-director, having been promoted major November 1, 1943. His captaincy is dated from Sept. 1, 1942.

Mahogany trees frequently grow 150 feet high with trunks 60 to 80 feet high and three to seven feet in diameter in their native tropical forests.

Delivered to western lines at a time when the yards are busy moving western Canada's big grain crop, five new Diesel-electric switch engines like the one shown above, are now helping the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg and Calgary. Built by the American Locomotive works and General Electric, these powerful units develop 600 volts from 1,000-horsepower Diesels and can hold their own with the biggest steam switchers. Both mechanical officials and engine crews who have handled them are enthusiastic about their performance. They are designed to work three shifts a day for 30 days and require only an hour's suspension daily for lubrication and checking. Photo shows 7015, first of the series of five to reach the west, as it made a trial run in Winnipeg yards.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

RELIGION IN EDUCATION

Golden text: Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. John 8:32.
Lesson: Deuteronomy 6:4-9; Proverbs 9:10; Matthew 7:1-12; Luke 6:39-45; II Timothy 2:15.
Devotional reading: Proverbs 3:13-26.

Explanations and Comments
Thou Shalt Love the Lord thy God, Deuteronomy 6:4-9.
The Fear of Jehovah is the Beginning of Wisdom; and the Knowledge of the Holy One is Understanding, Proverbs 9:10.

Look to God for Wisdom and Strength, Matthew 7:7-11. The need of earnestness in prayer is expressed by the three counsels in verse seven, ask, seek, knock. Note the climax—request, earnest desire, perseverance. "It is because asking is an expression of desiring that God gives his spiritual gifts only as we ask them from him." Verse eight states that the promise made in verse seven is justified by its fulfilment in the present. "To be a seeker is to be of the best sect next to the finder, and such shall ever earnest seek be in the end" (Olivier Cromwell).

What man would give his son a stone in answer to his call for bread, a serpent instead of a fish? A father may not grant his child's request, but he will not deceive him by giving him something that marries looks like what he asks for—a stone for bread, a serpent for fish. Eastern leaves are like stones in shape, and a serpent resembles an eel. If ye, being evil (for only God is truly good) know how to give good gifts unto your children.

If ye then know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father who is in heaven give good things to them that ask him? The child asks for what he wants, but his father does not give him his desire when he knows that it is not best for his welfare; we ask our Heavenly Father for what we think are good things, but he gives us only what are actually good things for us. Jesus clearly teaches that we may bring to God in prayer all our needs and longings provided we ask in sincerity and in the spirit that says, Not as I will, but as thou wilt; and he also clearly teaches that God hears our prayers and answers in the way that is for our best good. This is the boldness that we have toward him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us, I Jn. 6:14.

SOME GOOD POINTS
The real estate agent decided to be unusually frank with his prospective customer.

"Of course," he said, "this house has a few drawbacks. It is bounded on the north by the civic gas works; on the south by a synthetic rubber plant; on the east by a vinegar works, and on the west by a glue-manufacturing plant.

"But," continued the agent, before his prospective customer could protest, "There are advantages. The rent is cheap, and you can always tell which way the wind is blowing."

PHOTOS OF CANADA

An exhibition of photographs of Canada was opened at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, under the sponsorship of the Canadian Embassy and the three-month-old Instituto Brasil-Canada. Canadian Ambassador Jean Desy and many members of the diplomatic corps attended the inaugural ceremony. The photographs, supplied by the Canadian Government, show scenes of Canada at war, Canadian industry and agriculture and scenic vistas of the Dominion.

In early England, coins were sometimes cut in halves or quarters to make change.

GETS HISTORIC STONE

The Cumberland Stone on which the Duke of Cumberland stood at the Battle of Culloden, which resulted in the final defeat of Prince Charles Edward in 1746, has been bought for Scotland by the British National Trust. The trust recently acquired the graves of clanmen near by.

ACQUIRED TASTE

Thoreau Cronyn, one-time managing editor of Collier's, acquired a taste for newspaper work from reading the Springfield Republican to a blind man for 25 cents a week in his home town of San Diego, Cal.

Heavy Responsibility

Man Guarded Famous Art Treasures Close To Front Line

How he came by chance on an old Italian house, within 2,000 yards of the German lines, which was doing duty as a storeroom for some of the greatest works of Italian art was told in a recent despatch by the BBC's correspondent with the 8th Army, Vaughan Thomas. The paintings, it appeared had been taken from the famous galleries of France and hidden in this house under the sole care of an old man. Thomas described how in one corner, where two refugees were lying on straw mattresses, he saw one of the most famous pictures in the world, Botticelli's Primavera, propped against the wall. Among other works, he saw some of the finest of Giotto, Fra Angelico, and Cimabue. The old man told Thomas that as the battle drew nearer he had been almost overwhelmed by his responsibility. He had spent his whole time going between this particular house and others in an effort to keep guard over these treasures. The Allied authorities immediately took steps to get the pictures removed to safety.

Britain's Barter Boom

Curious Things Offered For Exchange In The "Wanted" Columns

A boom in barter is sweeping Britain. Every day offers of exchange are advertised in the "wanted" columns of London and provincial newspapers. One of the most remarkable offers was perhaps this: "Lady will exchange peach bed linen, pure lingerie, other goods, for nylon stockings or honey."

Running this close was an offer of a Victorian cheese-dish for a dozen new handkerchiefs.

One "agony column" contained offers of things ranging from a set of frying pans to second-hand suits for a public school boy and men's old shirts for making into women's blouses.—London Daily Mail.

FOR FIRST TIME

Women in France will vote for the first time next Feb. 1, the date set by the Cabinet for the first regional elections. The national elections have been postponed until the return of approximately 2,000,000 prisoners from Germany.

Rate Is Lowest

No Other Army Has Fewer T.B. Infections Than Canadian

Canadian army has the lowest tuberculosis rate "by a considerable margin" of any army, a defence headquarters release said.

Col. J. D. Adgey, consulting physician on the headquarters staff of army medical services, commented on the recent survey of the troops: "In all the four years of war, only 684 cases have been returned from overseas, and of these, only 18 have died. Contrast this to 1914-18, when nearly 8,000 Canadian soldiers died from tuberculosis infection contracted during their years of military service. "An idea of the relatively slight disability caused by tuberculosis in Canada today may be gathered from the figures for 1943, when a total of only 85 new cases, most of them in the very earliest stages, were discharged from the army in Canada because of disease contracted during service."

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

A Wife's Place

By ETHELDA BEDFORD
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"But, dear"—invariably I call my husband "dear" when we argue, although I doubt that it ever has helped—"just because we have this place in the country I don't see why I have to stay here when you are in town having a good time."

"A good time!" Henry is a magnet at changing the subject right under your nose. "That's all you know about my job, Ann—"

I know Henry has a tough time, a trying time, an exasperating time. I've heard him describe his work often enough to know his phrases by heart.

I had picked the wrong phrase, and couldn't tell him I had not been referring to the work at his desk. There it is, a mental desk, where every wife has been told her husband labors at night, which can be set up so conveniently at bars, cafes, supper clubs, moonlight cruises, etc. I meant that one.

"What I do know about is my job here," I said. "I've worked at it four summers, compiling facts on house guests, sunburn, fallen arches, mosquitoes, relatives, pin money."

"I come up every weekend don't I?" Henry was very righteous. "I won't miss one this summer."

"Henry, I'm all packed to go back to New York with you tomorrow." "Are you out of your mind?"

"Maybe," I said. "But I'd rather live in town with you the rest of the summer—and commute to the country weekends."

"Why do you think we have this place in the country?"

"There are a lot of answers to that one."

Henry walked out of the dining room ahead of me. We went into the living room where, spread on the table under the light, were photographs we had taken that week.

Looking at the excellent likeness of himself—Henry was in his best, his muscles bulging handsomely—he said, "You won't be lonesome. I've invited George and Martha Allen to come up for a week. They're due day after tomorrow."

"They came up last summer, and the summer before and . . ."

Henry eyed me. "They can taxi up from the station. George took the back door key last summer, so they'll get in, all right. Martha will wear my clothes, even if I'm not here. George will raid the ice box in the middle of the night and sleep till noon and bring six dirty shirts to put in the clothes hamper and . . ."

"You're chattering. But of course you'll have to be here when they arrive. It wouldn't seem like home without you around." Adam emptied his glass, no doubt, when he wanted to be a lone conqueror from Eden.

"Henry, I'm not falling for that line."

A butterfly look followed Henry's first glare, so I knew he meant to be sweet. "You look so cute here." He looked at a picture of me. "I like you in orange."

"I can wear orange in town. It'll look lovely at a roof garden."

Henry began to pace the floor. "Don't whine!" he said. "We've been married five years. I feel better knowing you are breathing pure air. Why, I work—to make life happier for you."

"I'll be happier in town shopping, dining with you, seeing the shows and night clubs."

Henry kicked the rug from his path. My mother used to say that she often felt Father was beyond her understanding, but that she knew he always meant the best. Poor Mother never had a play-time in all her married life. Father also believed a wife's place in summer was in the country.

Henry's long legs moved faster. "You're making it seem like a report book," he said, "to be settled and left, forgotten until the next time."

"That's what it's seemed to me—only our guests don't have to register or pay."

"I've thought of this house as our real home," he ignored the interruption. "And if you're not here—what's the use?"

"Henry," I said candidly, "my point about wanting to be with you still stands. But I also want to go into town because I'm fed up with sunburn, wind, foghorns, gnats, house pets and pesky guests. I can take it all weekends, but that's quite enough."

"Well, we may as well sell the damned place!"

I called Henry's bluff. We may as well, I said.

Henry suddenly left, went upstairs. I followed, turning out lights as we went. In the bedroom, Henry noisily kicked off his shoes and wordlessly tugged at the knot in his tie. The bathroom seemed the only place for me in that peculiar calm.

Looking at the black tears I cried, I was so sorry that I had smeared mascara on my own hand. What was the way guests treated my lines.

Then I heard Henry laugh. "Sweetheart!" he called. "Come out here right away!"

I rushed to bless him and thank him for seeing my point. I swung the door open and my eyes stuck to the scene in my bedroom. There were George and Martha Allen, bags and baggage, and dog!

"The house looked dark from the outside," George explained, "but as I still had your back door key, I just let us in."

"We knew you wouldn't mind. And say, meet the pup." Martha said, smiling with that carefree smile that only guests-in-the-country ever manage.

The pup leaped into the middle of my candlewick bedspread as Henry exclaimed, "This is swell! Seems like old times."

"It certainly does," laughed George, opening Henry's cigarette box. "Let me use that pink robe of yours, will you?" Martha asked me. "I didn't bring mine."

"Naturally," I said, but she didn't notice.

As I opened my bag, which had been so neatly packed, and pulled out the robe, I noticed a look of triumph about Henry. Bright as an alarm.

Anyway, I have next summer to look forward to . . .

Auto Tires

Automobiles Are In Need Of Careful Attention These Days

The faithful family chariot, taking Dad, Mother and the kids to town on Saturday nights for the weekly shopping, rates the very best of care to keep it rolling.

Automobiles today need as much careful attention as any farm implements or stock. This is true, especially of the tires, for slow leaks in the tires may cause a flat, or worse still, completely ruin the tire.

Three simple tests suggested by motor experts should ward off such disaster.

Make certain that the valve caps have been screwed on finger-tight and that each cap has a washer.

Before adding air to a tire, test and record the pressure.

Check the variations in tire pressure. Marked differences in pressure indicate leaks, the experts explain, and tires showing abnormal loss of air should be removed for immediate inspection and repair.

Valuable Work

Making Over Old Furniture Into Something Useful

"Making something out of nothing is the latest brain wave of that energetic and enterprising Patriotic Corps group in Winnipeg," say the directors of Women's Voluntary Services, Department of National War Services.

In the firm belief that a dud can be put to practical use again many W.V.S. members are getting out saws, hammers, paint brushes and going to work. "Ah old fashioned golden oak buffet, mirror removed and feet sawed off becomes a shining red and white kitchen cupboard; heavy old gilt picture frames take a dose of light coloured paint and backed with plywood become eye-catching coffee tables with folding trestles for legs."

"Syrup jugs or odd shaped bottles become bedside water bottles. An old gilly jar lid painted the same colour as the stopper of the jug, covers the accompanying drinking glass. Refrigerator sets are made from large cold cream jars. Lamp bases are made from old cracker tins, pithers, stone jars."

"The Patriotic Salvage Corps' four shops in Winnipeg sell everything from dolls to dishpans and the attractive "something out of nothing" created by volunteers have a ready sale. Proceeds from these shops go to a list of charitable institutions as long as your arm," the directors concluded.

Flax In Britain

Big Progress Made In Production During The War Years

Enormous progress has been made in Britain's flax production during the war. Since 1941 production costs have been halved while output has been quadrupled. Fibre yield has risen from 3 1/2 per cent. to just under 8 per cent. Today, 17 factories are working and approximately 60,000 acres are under cultivation by nearly 6,000 farmers.

SERVICE FOR SOLDIERS

More than 2,000 used razor blades are being resharpened daily by a Lahore firm. This is one of the latest economy measures which the army in India has introduced; soldiers return their used blades when issued with fresh ones.

Binder Twine

Farmers Have Been Supplied With Adequate Quantities

Although fibre used in manufacturing binder twine has been in short supply since the war began, farmers have been supplied with adequate quantities, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. That is, the price has been maintained at the same reasonable level—9 cents per lb. wholesale. Only one grade of twine, Wartime Standard, running 500 feet to the pound and containing 12 1/2 per cent. jute, was manufactured in 1944. Although somewhat larger and softer than the best pre-war grades, it has been reasonably satisfactory. In the fourth year of the last war, twine prices rose to 25 cents per lb. wholesale.

COAL MINING IN BRITAIN

The proportion of mechanically-cut coal in Britain has risen during the war from 59 per cent. to over 70 per cent. Mechanical conveying of coal has risen from 54 per cent. to 68 per cent.

Needs Further Tests

Canadian Research Workers Announce New Substitute For Blood Plasma

Four Canadian research workers have discovered that polyvinyl alcohol may be used as substitutes for blood or blood plasma in treating certain types of shock cases, says an article in the current issue of the Canadian medical journal.

The article, by Dr. N. W. Rooms, Capt. Lawrence Riddle, R.C.A.M.V., Dr. Leverage Williams and Dr. Ward Smith of the Universities of Western Ontario and Toronto, recommends further testing and warns that so far only laboratory work and a few clinical experiments have been carried out.

WOULD BE GREAT BOON

Common colds, influenza, pneumonia and other airborne diseases may possibly be cured by conditioning indoor air with an invisible antiseptic vapor made from triethylene glycol. The odorless, non-inflammable and inexpensive vapor can be distributed uniformly through the air by a duct and fan system.

Firestone
EXTRA VALUES
Are more important NOW than ever before

Firestone tires have always been noted for their extra values and consistent high quality that mean longer wear, more safety and greater value.

And, just as you would expect, it is Firestone that today is the pacemaker and pioneer in developing new materials, new methods and new machines that have resulted in tremendous advancement in tire design, construction and performance.

With new tires so hard to get it is more important than ever to get the best tire that money can buy with your tire ration certificate . . . and that means Firestone . . . because Firestone tires stay safer, longer.

"Invest in Victory," they say—with me, for one, that's quite o.k. When I've a dollar to invest, I choose the buy that seems the best, and these bonds at the moment are the best thing offered to buy. At least that's how it seems to me. I hope you fellows all agree. With all its blood and sweat and tears the war has lasted five long years, so anything we're asked to do to see the Victory clear through, with good sound lasting peace assured, should be right cheerfully endured. "Invest in Victory!" I will! I'll find a way to foot the bill. The other things I want can wait—I haven't missed them much to date. "Invest in Victory!" You bet! The best investment offered yet!VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN
OPENS ON MONDAY NEXT

On Monday, October 23, thousands of salesmen all over Canada will start a campaign in the interests of the 7th Victory Loan.

With Alberta's quota set at $43,000,000, which is $6,000,000 more than the objective set for the last loan, unit chairmen all over Alberta are agreed that unremitting work over a period of three weeks will be required if the province is to attain its objective.

In this particular district, which has done exceedingly well in all previous loans, the objective is $90,000. To reach this figure, the help and co-operation of everyone in this district will be required.

No one knows any better than the sailors, soldiers and airmen returning from service overseas, of the value of first-class equipment in the continuing fight against the Nazis and their Axis allies. This equipment is bought with the money subscribed by Canadians to the respective Victory loans and the forthcoming 7th Victory Loan will be no exception.

In this district, residents are invited to march side by side with their fellow Albertans from the United States border in the south to the Peace River country in the north in one grand effort to reach Alberta's $43,000,000 objective.

The slogan of the 7th Victory Loan is "Invest in Victory," so let us show our friends to the north and to the south that when the final figures are counted on the last day of the campaign, an objective pennant will be flying as daily proof that we did not fail when called upon to do our bit on the home front.

A DANGEROUS
GUESSING CONTEST

The probable date when "cease fire" will sound in Europe is important to us, because almost every one in this country has a vital interest in the ending of hostilities. Given the approximate date, families of men overseas can begin to estimate the time which must elapse before they receive their loved ones back home again. Labor has an additional interest in the date, in planning for the transition period overlapping war production and the new production of peacetime goods. Business men, who must plot the future of their establishments with great care are especially keen to have someone give them an approximate date of the conclusion of hostilities in Europe.

Thus, when at various times, Mr. Churchill, General Eisenhower, General Montgomery, Admiral Halsey and others have attempted to give the public an idea of the length of time it would take to finish up the military campaign, their words have been read avidly.

But in the wake of such statements there has been a wave of other predictions from ten thousand minor and less informed circles. Especially since "V" Day, almost every man in the street has been taking a guess at the date of "V" Day.

All this might be harmless, were it not for the psychological effect that the contest has on people at large. For one thing, many are led into the belief that the war is almost over and that the time has come for some relaxation at home. Further, when the war keeps its furious pace for weeks after "V" Day dates previously predicted, the morale of many people is unsettled.

In these crucial days preceding the final knockout, Canadians at home may again take their cue from Canadians at the battle fronts. Over there, none marks time, waiting for Germany to collapse. They are all on their feet, fighting as energetically as at any previous period of the war. Over here duty calls us to work as hard as we have ever worked before, and to keep our production lines as vigorous as they have ever been before—through the purchase of Victory Loan bonds.

Pete says: "I'm prepared to live within my means, even if I've got to borrow to do it."

THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN PARIS

Magnitude of the problem of feeding and caring for civilian war victims in Paris can be judged from the following figures given by the prefect of the Seine Department.

"On the first of August, 1944," he said, "there were about 4,500 buildings seriously damaged in Paris itself and in the surrounding district 37,600 had been hit. Since that date there have been battles in the city streets and in the suburbs, not to mention the German bombardment of August 26, which affected about 15,000 buildings. With 75,000 killed and hundreds of thousands displaced, Paris has contributed her share in the sacrifices of the country as a whole. The number of homeless Parisians who have only managed to find temporary shelter is estimated at 15,000."

"The housing problem unfortunately is not confined to war victims; it also concerns Jewish persons displaced from their lodgings through German laws. There are estimated to be 25,000 apartments formerly occupied by Jewish tenants, who were moved by the Germans and the question is particularly difficult in that when these apartments were not occupied by the Germans or tenants of their choice, they were reserved by priority for deserving candidates: numerous young married couples. Since the bombing of Noisy-le-Sec and the Eighteenth Arrondissement, the same apartment may be claimed by two families under different headings, but with equal right to tenancy. As well as 250,000 Jewish families and 15,000 war victims rendered homeless, there are officials and employees of the various public services, who are arriving from London and Algiers, the personnel of the headquarters staff and the officers and men of French and Allied armies."

The remains of Paul Yagos, aged 30, who was fatally wounded by gunshot last week end, were laid to rest in the Coleman Catholic cemetery on Monday forenoon. Paul had been in poor health for a number of years. He is survived by his mother, three sisters and two brothers. His father died last July.

Mrs. Taylor, wife of Rev. Roy Taylor, former MIA and now in the Veterans' Guard of Canada, has responded to the appeal for nurses and taken a position at the Peigan hospital at Brocket.

GROWING UP WITH CANADA...

- FOR 75 YEARS!

Up through 75 eventful years of Canadian history... up from horse and buggy days to the fast-moving, mechanized world of today—General Motors of Canada and the pioneer venture from which it sprang, have grown with this growing nation.

Thanks to the constant and continued support of the Canadian public, General Motors, through three-quarters of a century of service to Canada—has developed into a vital national asset... a power for progress in peace, a tower of strength in war!

From GM's busy assembly lines has rolled a mighty measure of the automotive transportation that has helped build modern Canada. From GM's factories and foundries, at this critical time, is pouring an overwhelming volume of that splendid fighting equipment which is speeding Victory.

As a partner in Canada's forward march to nationhood and inspired by a seventy-five year long tradition of high craftsmanship—General Motors of Canada, in this its Jubilee Year, pledges itself anew to the proud task of producing "More and Better Things for More People".

FARMERS! WILL YOU HELP THIS WINTER?

If you are not required on the farm this winter you should take other work.

Extra winter workers are needed for woods operations—logging and pulpwood and fuel cutting—base metal mines, coal mines, meat packing and cold storage, grain handling, railway track maintenance, iron foundries and other high priority occupations, varying with the area.

Please offer your services to:

- The nearest Employment and Selective Service Office; or
- The nearest Provincial Agricultural Representative; or
- Your Local Farm Production Committee.

A good response to this appeal is important to Canada's welfare—please act immediately.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

FEMALE MINIMUM WAGE ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Female Minimum Wage Act, Order No. 15, of the board of industrial relations has been published in the Alberta Gazette of October 16th, 1944, which states changes in minimum of wages to be paid to female labor, effective December 1st.

The new regulations are laid out as follows: Wages per week, when the week consists of 30 hours or more, $15.00; thirty-five cents per hour when the week consists of less than 30 hours, providing that no employee shall receive less than $14.40, when her shift each day consists of four consecutive hours or less. A meal-time period of not more than one hour shall not be regarded as part of the four-hour period.

With reference to inexperienced female employees, the minimum wage shall not be less than $10.00 per week for the first month, $12.00 per week for the second month and $14.00 per week for the third month, following which period the minimum of $15.00 per week will become effective.

Inexperienced female employees working on an hourly or piecework basis must be paid wages not less than at the rate of the minimum weekly wages as already stated for the first three months of apprenticeship.

Time in excess of the hours per week as specified, or of any lesser customary hours established by practice in any particular employment, shall be paid at one and a half times the ordinary wage received by such employee.

Deductions from wages to cover meals or lodging or both are as follows: for 15 meals in a full week of 6 days $2.50, for 21 meals in a full week of 7 days $3.00, for single meals 15 cents, for lodging to cover a full week of 7 days $1.50.

Where uniforms or articles of wearing apparel are required to be worn, such uniforms or articles of wearing apparel shall be supplied by the employer free of charge and the employer shall be responsible for cost of repairs or laundering of same.

No deductions shall be made for accidental breakages by an employee, nor shall any deductions be made for time not worked on any statutory holiday.

PICKING UP THE THREADS AGAIN

"What will it be like when we get back?" say the boys overseas. "What will it be like when they get back?" say the people here at home. These are two angles to a question that is assuming a top priority in the post-war thinking of the average person.

This homecoming, now that it looks like being a reality, has suddenly become loaded with fears and doubts that never seemed to exist before. Beyond question the men will be different when they get back. The man who spends $100 "netting" his new pip or stripe will have changed quite a bit from the fellow who had only $100 to spend on his whole honeymoon.

You meet and listen to many people who are full of problems these days, so it is all the more encouraging when you meet someone who seems to have at least some of the answers. The place was the Moral Re-Armament Training Centre at Mackinac Island, Michigan; the person—the wife of a fighter pilot. They had married suddenly when he had joined up and had enjoyed their short spell of married life together when he was in training and instructing before going overseas.

She was well aware of the many changes and adjustments that she would have to make when he got back—of his difficulty in getting settled back into a world which he'd left only a year or so out of school—of her job to make ends meet on probably much less than they had been getting before—and so on.

However, she realized that there were some very definite things that she could do to meet the situation when it arose. In the first place, she said, "I can change from my old idea that when my husband gets back it will be my turn to have some fun and expect him to take me out and 'whoop it up.' Sitting at home," she went on, "and feeling that you've had the tough end of the deal and being sorry for yourself is just as far off the mark as breaking out and having a good time."

Both these attitudes, she explained, were frustrating and offered no solution. The only really satisfying answer was to get into parallel fight here on the home front to preserve and maintain the things that her husband was risking his life for overseas. She pointed out that there were many opportunities to fight—initially for a sound home based on honest principles—against black markets and local government.

Enlistment in such a programme as this had something worthwhile and intriguing to offer her husband. Picking up the threads again with united determination and objectives, as outlined by this fighter pilot's wife, surely offer a real basis for rehabilitation in the post-war world.

The Victory carnival held at Claresholm under auspices of the Men's Club netted $1,300.

There's MORE to do

On the fighting front our men are still "slugging it out". Each advance . . . each new sector . . . each mile that the battle front is extended . . . is hard going. Much fighting lies ahead.

There's more to be done on the home front, too. More money is needed to enable our country to carry her share of the war's cost.

Our duty is clear . . . we, at home, must provide the money. Canada must get this money from Canadians.

for EVERYBODY

Fortunately, most of us have good incomes. We can do our share.

But it is the extra effort that wins battles and we must be prepared to make extra effort on the home front. Canada's borrowing needs have been increased by some three hundred and twenty million dollars. That's extra effort that we, at home, must make. We must provide the money that is needed . . . more money than ever before.

We must keep faith with our fighting men. We must continue to work and save . . . and lend. We must all lend more.

Invest In Victory

CANADA'S SEVENTH VICTORY LOAN, with its minimum objective of $1,300,000,000, comes at a time when there is every reason to believe that the most critical period of the war is well in the past. After five years of wartime sacrifices and restrictions it is natural that the people should be anxious to return to normal conditions as quickly as possible, and that there should be some surprise that such a large loan is necessary at this time. In announcing the new Loan Campaign, the Minister of Finance, Hon. J. L. Flavel, went into this matter in detail, pointing out many reasons why Canadians are asked to continue to lend and save not only in the interest of victory, but also to ensure economic stability for this country now, and in the critical period which will follow the final defeat of Germany and Japan.

Still Need For Patriotic Loans

In warning the public against being too hasty in assuming that there is no further need for wartime restrictions, Mr. Flavel was repeating advice which has been given by many other officials here in recent months. It is well known that Canada is committed to full participation in the struggle against Japan, and there is as yet no indication that the war in the Pacific will be speedily concluded. In addition, Canada is contributing extensively to the work of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. There are also far-reaching plans for social security measures within the Dominion during the post-war period. It is clear that all these undertakings will call for the expenditure of large sums of money, for patriotic lending on the part of the people here.

Inflation Is A Constant Danger

Another reason why the public is urged to continue to lend and save, lies in the constant danger of inflation. A sudden departure from wartime restraint in spending, would speedily destroy the economic stability which has been so successfully maintained here during the war. In contrast to the chaotic conditions which develop when inflation occurs, the restrictions which have been enforced in Canada have caused relatively small inconvenience, and it is apparent that public co-operation in this connection will be required for some time to come. One way in which this co-operation can be manifested, is in whole-hearted support of the Seventh Victory Loan. The first six loans were generously over-subscribed, and in giving a similar response to the Seventh Loan campaign the people of Canada will be investing in victory, both on the battlefields and on the home front.

Autumn Coloring

Tells Why Leafs Of Trees Turn From Green To Other Colors

What actually takes place when Nature presents her colorful pageant every Autumn is described by Dr. D. J. MacLachlan, professor of botany at the Ontario Agricultural College, who says it can be boiled down to a simple cause—accumulation of sugar.

Autumn coloring, in general, Dr. MacLachlan says, is a result of breakdown processes. In preparation for Winter, a small cork layer forms at the base of each leaf, actually healing the wound created by the leaf's separation before it breaks off. This cork slows the natural processes in the leaf. The chlorophyll, or green coloring disappears, and yellows, hidden by the green all Summer, come into view. Sugar formed in the leaf is prevented by the cork layer from getting down into the plant, and in conjunction with a cyanide complex forms a brilliant red dye.

Deeper shades of red indicate more sugar in the leaf. As the breakdown process continues and the leaf dies, a brown color is formed—Kitchener Record.

Cold Germs

Scientists And Medical Men Are Devoting Much Time In Research Work

Much research has been devoted to cutting down respiratory tract infections by Canadian scientists and medical men.

In the armed services as everywhere, infections like cold, influenza, pneumonia, tuberculosis, mean that many man-hours and training days are lost. Respiratory tract disease casualties in Canadian military hospitals in the Dominion alone have been averaging around 35,000 a year at an approximate cost to the taxpayer of $6,000,000 annually. Dust control as a means of combating respiratory disease was first tried on a major scale at Camp Borden, Ontario, last winter. It proved so effective in immobilizing the germs of all airborne diseases that respiratory disease casualties were cut down more than half.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—Our school is situated quite far from town and we would like to serve hot lunches to children by the middle of October. Is it possible to get rationed foods for these lunches?

A—Yes, it is. Schools wishing to serve hot lunches to school children can apply to Local Ration Board for permission to serve rationed foods. Arrangements will be made by registering them as quota users. But ration allowances will be given to cover only those children who cannot possibly go home for lunch.

Q—I live on a farm and previous to the war found a use for every cotton bag that came into my home. I have recently heard that restrictions have been removed on the using of used bags. Will you kindly tell me if this is so?

A—Rural housewives will be glad to know that the new stocks of used bags have increased so that it is possible for restrictions to be removed. Used cotton bags need no longer be returned, and can also be bought for conversion into household articles.

Q—May rationed commodities donated by members be offered for sale at a club tea?

A—Yes, organizations may sell preserves donated by members but it is necessary to first secure authorization from your Local Ration Board.

Q—Do soldiers' short leave ration cards have to be presented to local ration boards within a certain time?

A—No. They can be presented any time. You probably know that you must serve also means before presenting any of these cards.

Q—How long will Ration Book 4 be kept in use?

A—All coupons in ration book 4 will expire December 31st, the third ration book expiring on the same date. Ration book 5 contains coupons for 50 weeks, so you will have to protect it against damage for a longer time than any of the previous books.

Can Be Dangerous

Housewives Should Be Careful About Mixing Different Cleaners

There is a lesson for housewives in the curious case of the Birmingham woman who was nearly killed by poison gas while scrubbing her bath, states the London Daily Mail. It is: Never mix two different kinds of household cleaners. Birmingham City Analyst revealed the cause in his quarterly report, stating that the misadventure resulted from the combined use of two proprietary brands of household cleaners.

The housewife sprinkled two ounces of a powder cleaner on her bath, and then, anxious to get the surface as clean as possible, added about half a pint of a liquid.

There was lots of fozzing, but the woman had lost her sense of smell in childhood and did not realize a poison gas was being given off.

The gas was chlorine, which was used by the Germans in the last war. The woman fainted, came found again, crawled into the garden, and eventually recovered under medical treatment.

ADDED TO TROUBLES

Power Of Science

Our Aims Must Be To Improve Men And Not Machines

The power of science is producing day by day amazingly perfect machines which appear almost able to take the place of human intelligence. Of this the recently completed "automatic sequence-controlled calculator" is an outstanding example. It is of vital importance to remember that machines however excellent are only machines, and that the human being who copies them or endeavors to imitate them in any guise is preparing for a machine-made life.

The man who is not a machine will read and reflect. He will reason and ask questions. He will turn to the world's wisdom in order to get help for the elevation of the plane on which his own life is to be passed. If a practical plan can be worked out by which all training shall rest on liberal education even though limited, as a foundation, then we shall be opening the door toward progress for the world which we have never yet been able to achieve. We must not turn from the education of men to the making of machines.

Assurance must be given that our educational system will do all that is possible to make liberal education in some form, however limited in the time, the foundation as well as the ideal of all training of any kind. This will reduce to a minimum the number of skilled human machines who have never risen to be really men. Our constant aim must be men and not machines.—Address by Dr. Butler at Columbia.

Girdles The Globe

India Has Powerful Short-Wave Station At Delhi

Ten times as powerful any other All-India Radio short-wave station and giving a beam signal capable of girdling the globe, a new transmitter at Delhi has been broadcasting a 200-hour program service since May 1. It is All India Radio's 100 kilometer short-wave transmitter. This new high-power transmitting station is located outside Delhi on a site extending over 300 acres of land.

DRUM STICKS MAKE AN ENTRANCE

One of the most delicious ways to serve round steak, veal slices or pork cuts is in the role of Mock Drum Sticks covered with a golden crisp coating of browning cornflake crumbs. The use of a crisp cereal in virtually all dishes calling for fine "crumbs" is a cooking shortcut that busy homemakers endorse. The toasted cereal flakes roll quickly and easily into crumbs of the desired consistency, and the cereal is always available.

Mock Drum Sticks (your butcher may be persuaded to wrap the slices of meat around the skewers for you) are dipped first in the crumbs, then in slightly beaten eggs and milk to which seasonings have been added, and finally, a second time in corn flake crumbs. The Drum Sticks are browned quickly in hot fat. A small amount of water is added, they are covered tightly and baked in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour or until tender.

Mock Drum Sticks
1 1/2 lbs. veal beef or pork steak, six skewers cut thin
2 cups corn flakes
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon fat
1/2 cup water

Cut meat into strips and roll around skewers in the shape of drum sticks. Roll corn flakes into fine crumbs. Cover drum sticks with crumbs, then dip in slightly beaten egg to which milk and seasonings have been added. Roll again in crumbs. Brown drum sticks quickly in fat. Add water, cover tightly and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about one hour or until tender.

Yield: Six servings.
A delicious salad dressing can be made by combining 1 cup cottage cheese, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons catsup or chili sauce and 1/4 cup chopped olives. Served on head lettuce accompanied by plenty of crisp, energizing crackers, it furnishes a light, but filling luncheon.

SMILE AWHILE

Young Donald had told his favorite uncle that his mother was very funny about some things. When the uncle asked why he thought so, Donald said:

"Well, when we have mince pie for dinner she asks whether I will have some, but when we have spinach, she just gives it to me."

"What is a debtor?"
"A man who owes money."
"And what is a creditor?"
"A man who thinks he's going to get it back."

The head of the firm was frowning over a letter. Calling for his chief clerk, he said: "That typist—you certainly didn't engage her on account of her grammar!"
"Grammar," said the other. "When you were emphasizing the importance of grammar—well, I thought you said 'giamor!'"

The sergeant, after a squinting a recruit with uniform. The trousers fitted perfectly, the coat might have been made for him and the cap was just right.

"Man alive!" cried the sergeant, "you must be deformed!"

Father: "So you've been fighting again, have you? Then you go to bed without supper, young man!"
Freddy: "All right, dad; I've only got two teeth left anyhow."

Joe: "What's become of the Hinkers' club?"

Jim: "Oh, it disbanded. It was getting too hard to persuade passing motorists to pick us up and give us a lift."

Uncle George—So this is the baby, eh? I used to look just like him at that age. What's he crying about now?

Little Niece—Oh, Uncle George, he heard what you said.

A lady had been looking for a friend for a long time without success. Finally, she came upon her in an unexpected way.

"Well," she exclaimed, "I've been on a perfect wild goose chase all day long, but thank goodness I've found you at last!"

Armistice Has Been Accepted By Bulgarians

LONDON.—Bulgaria has accepted preliminary armistice terms from Russia, Great Britain and United States, Moscow radio announced.

The Moscow announcement said one of the preliminary conditions was that all Bulgarian troops in Greece and Yugoslavia must be evacuated within 15 days.

The move was apparently a speedy result of Moscow conferences between Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

Simultaneously, a Cairo broadcast heard here by the Associated Press said Bulgarian troops in Greece had already received their orders to withdraw.

Tripartite military commission under the chairmanship of a Russian representative will check and supervise the evacuation of Bulgarian troops and officials from the occupied territories, the Moscow announcement said.

Evacuation of the Greek and Yugoslav territories—which Bulgaria obtained in her former partnership with Germany—must start immediately.

In the British House of Commons, the Minister of State, Sir Richard Law, said that a limited evacuation had been started by the Bulgarians from the territories which, he said, "they sliced and robbed from the Allied nations."

The Russian announcement indicated final armistice conditions for Bulgaria will not be settled until she fulfils the preliminary terms of withdrawal.

Allied governments, through the European advisory commission, have been considering these armistice conditions since Sept. 9, when the Russians ended hostilities against the Bulgarian army after a one-day war.

The Russians have been busy in Bulgaria rounding up Nazi officials and pro-German elements who had launched the country on a road of territorial aggrandisement with Hitler's help in 1940.

DARING DEEDS

Canadian Army Engineers Earn A Place In Fame

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND.—In the dark terror that was the River Rhine on the September night when Britain's 1st Airborne Division was evacuated after nine days and nights of fighting, a field company of Canadian Army engineers earned a place in fame beside these heroes of Arnhem by evacuating some 2,500 of them across the river to safety.

The Canadians, under Maj. Michael Tucker of Montreal, rescued nearly 50 per cent. of all the men brought out under a constant hail of enemy fire and in the most horrible weather. Outstanding in this operation was Cpl. George I. Robinson of Regina and Sapper David McCready of Calgary.

"I was never prouder of a bunch of men," said Maj. Tucker. "Mortars and shells were falling all around them but they never faltered; they just unloaded and headed right back into it all for the other side."

Maj. Tucker had special praise for Cpl. George Robinson who led a section in constructing the bridge necessary for the operation, was responsible for the delivery of many storm boats to the launching sites and afterwards commanded a boat on six trips before it was put out of commission.

WAR ON JAPS

Report That Siberian Bases May Be Used By U.S.

LONDON.—The Daily Express, in a special despatch from Washington said Marshal Stalin is reported to have pledged Siberian bases to the United States as soon as the war ends in Europe.

The Express is published by Lord Beaverbrook, regarded as one of Russia's staunchest supporters as well as a strong advocate of closer Anglo-American relations.

The story added: "Russia is not expected to take an active part in the war to defeat Japan."

BAN WILL BE LIFTED

LONDON.—The veil of anonymity, drawn over all the roads and footpaths, towns and villages of Britain directly after the fall of France, to baffle the German invader, will be lifted officially when Home Secretary Morrison revokes the "removal of direction signs order."

Sir William Dies

Sir William Mulock, Canada's "grand old man" died at his home in Toronto, in his 102 year. He was formerly chief justice of Ontario and a former postmaster-general of Canada.

Key Position May Decide On Length Of War

LONDON.—The speed with which the 1st Canadian army cleans up the Schelde estuary may decide whether the war in Europe will be won this year or will continue through the winter into next spring.

Antwerp, with harbor facilities comparable with Liverpool, is the key to the supply problems of Lt.-Gen. Crerar's Canadian army and Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's British 2nd Army and once its undamaged dock are available to Allied shipping only weather conditions will delay a break-through into the northern German plains.

British military observers have kept a close eye on the Canadian progress along the coast in northern France and the Low Countries, realizing that despite the non-spectacular role assigned to Gen. Crerar's Canadian, British and Allied troops, in the final analysis they may decide when the war ends.

The Germans are extremely sensitive along their northern and north-western flanks where, it is estimated at headquarters of Field Marshal Montgomery, 21st army group commander, they have drawn up 150,000 men—the equivalent of nine full-strength infantry divisions and five armored divisions—to fight the battle of Holland.

GENERAL'S TRIBUTE

Canadian Brigade Told That British Learned Much From Them

FLORENCE, Italy.—The general commanding the 15th British corps told Canadians of the independent 1st armored brigade that most of what the British corps learned on tank and infantry co-operation "was learned from you, and we owe you a great debt of gratitude."

The tribute came in response to a corps toast made by a Vancouver brigadier at a dinner given in honor of his recent award of the D.S.O. for leadership of the brigade.

WESTERN CORRIDOR

Want Short Cut For Motorists In British Columbia

VICTORIA.—Premier Hart announced he will look into possibility of obtaining a corridor through the United States connecting Rosland and Grand Forks in British Columbia to provide an all-year highway route in this southern interior area of the province.

At present motorists must cross the Cascade mountains with two summits which are almost impassable in winter.

If the United States should give B.C. less than 20 miles of territory in northern Washington state, it would be possible for Canadians to motor from one side of the province to the other any time in the year without the necessity of going through the U.S. customs and immigration inspection.

Mr. Hart said he told business people of the interior area he would request the Dominion government to discuss it with Washington.

VISIT CANADIANS

Legion's League Club Inspected By The King And Queen

OTTAWA.—King George and Queen Elizabeth renewed acquaintances with several Canadians in Edinburgh recently, when they visited the Canadian Legion's Canadian League club there.

Met by Maj. J. H. Wallace and Senior Superintendent H. A. D. Mills, of Moose Jaw, Sask., Their Majesties inspected the club. Practically every Canadian they met in the club recalled having taken some part in the ceremonies attending the Royal Visit to Canada in 1938.

NOW IN BERLIN

Italian Gold Reserve Transferred To Germany Says Bank Governor

ROME.—Nichola Introna, governor of the Bank of Italy, testified that the Italian gold reserve was consigned to the Germans by his predecessor, Vincenzo Azzioli, who is on trial for his life.

The gold was transferred to Berlin this year, by agreement between the Fascist regime of Mussolini and the Nazi government, the 77-year-old witness said. Azzioli is on trial on charges of collaboration.

Introna said about 50 tons of gold was taken to Berlin from Fortezza in February and that German orders to remove the remainder to the Nazi capital were being discussed early in June.

"I have no doubt it all has been transferred to Berlin," he said.

WEST COAST BASE

Establishment Of R.A.F. Transport Base Will Be Discussed Soon

MONTREAL.—Aviation officials from the British commonwealth who will meet here later this month will discuss the establishment of a R.A.F. transport command base on the Pacific coast, it was learned here. The proposed base would serve the Pacific war zones much as the airport at Dorval, Que., has served the European war.

It was learned that creation of the base would not curtail operations by the R.A.F. transport command but would involve an expansion of personnel.

Size of the base will be considered at the conference and Patricia Bay at Victoria and Vancouver airport are rumored as possible sites.

Gives The Victory Sign

Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Mrs. Churchill are shown upon their arrival in England on the Queen Mary. They had just returned from the Quebec conference with President Roosevelt. According to the prime minister that V for Victory sign he gives may not be a reality in the fight against the Germans before 1945.

Says Trade With Britain Will Be Vital To Canada

NEW YORK.—Trade Minister MacKinnon said in an article appearing in the New York Journal of Commerce that the condition of the United Kingdom after the war may affect the extent to which Canada will be able to sell her goods in a market which has been the "sheet anchor" for the sale of many products sustaining the economy of both eastern and western Canada.

The minister said that the "triangle" of Canadian-United Kingdom-United States trade had worked to the advantage of Canada over many years. The United Kingdom bought more from Canada than she sold, while Canada bought more from the United States than she sold.

After the war, a commercial world in which the position of the United Kingdom had vastly changed must be faced. This raised serious questions for Canada.

Unless Canada could find means of continuing her trade with the United Kingdom, her capacity to do business with the United States might be affected.

A TEN-YEAR PLAN

Ducks Unlimited (Canada) Will Spend $2,000,000 On Canadian Shipments

CALGARY.—W. C. Fisher, Calgary, was re-elected president of Ducks Unlimited (Canada) and O. Leigh Spencer, Vancouver, chairman, at a general meeting of members held here.

It was decided to adopt a 10-year plan calling for expenditure of $2,000,000 on Canadian projects. Tom Main, Winnipeg, general manager, was instructed to draw up the plan. The executive body of the organization is to be expanded from the present 20 directors to 30, the new directors being chosen by those already in office, it was decided.

Next year's meeting of the organization will be held in Saskatchewan.

Must Restore Poland As A Great Nation

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt said that Poland must be "reconstituted as a great nation," and told a group of Polish-American leaders that "world opinion is going to back up that objective."

The White House issued an exchange of remarks between Mr. Roosevelt and the leaders of the Polish American congress after the congress delegates presented him a memorial urging that Poland's territorial integrity be preserved.

"You and I are all agreed that Poland must be reconstituted as a great nation," the president told the head of the Polish American congress, Charles Rozmarek of Chicago. "Of course we should all bear in mind that nobody here has accurate information about everything that is going on in Poland. Even I, as President of the United States, with access to all of the information that is available, am not fully informed of the whole situation."

"The broad objective which we all seek is excellent. I am certain that world opinion is going to back up that objective—not only to reconstitute Poland as a strong nation, but also as a representative and peace-loving nation."

NEW MINING FIELD

Development North Of Great Slave Lake Is Predicted

EDMONTON.—Mines Minister T. A. Crerar said in an interview on arrival here that an important new mining field is in the making north of Great Slave Lake in the Yellowknife country. He predicted "an immense development in the north country and the whole valley of the Mackenzie in the next 25 years."

Accompanied by Dr. Charles Campbell, deputy minister, Mr. Crerar conferred with Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, special Canadian commissioner for northwest defence projects, and will visit Elk Island and Jasper National parks and the McMurtry oil sands. He intends also to pay a courtesy call on Premier E. C. Manning and Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen.

OUTPUT IS LARGE

Canada Has Built 137 Merchant Ships Since War Started

OTTAWA.—Canadian shipyards have constructed between 3,000,000 and 8,500,000 deadweight tons of merchant shipping since the war began of which 2,500,000 tons remain under Canadian ownership the Canadian shipping board said.

In figures prepared for Trade Minister MacKinnon the board revealed merchant ships, built since the war and actually being operated by Canada, at present number 137, including 10,000-ton freighters and 3,600-ton tankers deadweight.

About 300 freighters of 10,000 tons have been built in Canadian yards.

POPULATION DOWN

British Columbia Is Gradually Getting Rid Of Japanese

VANCOUVER, B.C.—George Collins, general superintendent of the British Columbia security commission, said that 414 Japanese have left British Columbia for eastern Canada since the beginning of 1944.

This reduces British Columbia's Japanese population at the first of this month to 15,643. Since 1941 some 7,000 B.C. Japanese have left B.C. and now are living in other parts of Canada.

SHORTEN LINES

German High Command Speaks Of Having To Lose Ground

LONDON.—Lt.-Gen. Kurt Dittmar, spokesman for the German high command, voiced what may be the signal for Nazi armies to retreat to Germany's borders.

In his weekly broadcast, Dittmar said, "It is essential for us now to realize that at present no aspect is more important for us than the utmost shortening of our lines."

NAZIS KILL CZECHS

NEW YORK.—The massacre of Lidice has been repeated in two more Czechoslovak villages, the Czechoslovak information service in London has announced. On Oct. 4, the hamlets of Solnas Hama and Hutlik, in Slovakia northeast of Presov were obliterated by the Nazis and their inhabitants were slaughtered, the information service reported.

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

In planning Canada's re-establishment program, its framers worked with one principal idea in mind. This was that the only answer to the problem of permanent re-establishment is a job, and that the surest way to get and hold that job is by the skill necessary for it.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Every ex-service man or woman who will be assisted in re-establishment by training is eligible to have it. There is provision for paying fees for all courses and, in addition, the ex-service man or woman may receive maintenance grants up to:

$60 monthly if single;

$80 monthly for a man and his wife, together with children's allowances.

This training is available for the period of service to a maximum of one year, but can be extended beyond that period, if necessary, and if service is more than one year.

EDUCATIONAL TRAINING

This is available to all who are admitted to university within 15 months of discharge and, as in vocational training, fees are paid and there are maintenance allowances up to:

$60 monthly for a single man;

$80 monthly for a man and his wife, together with allowances for dependent children.

These allowances will be continued on a month for month basis of the time in the service, providing all examinations are passed. Outstanding students may have assistance continued to completion of the course.

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

Under the re-establishment program Canada's veterans who, within 18 months of discharge from the services, become ill or unemployed may draw maintenance allowances up to $50 if single and $70 for a man and his wife, together with children's allowances. The out-of-work benefits are for those fit and able to work, but for whom there is no work immediately available. In the case of serious illness there is free treatment and hospitalization for any condition in the year following discharge.

As a further security measure, every veteran who enters insurable employment is entitled, after 15 weeks in that employment, to unemployment insurance credit as though the whole period in the services since July 1, 1941, had been spent in the insurable employment.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST ELIGIBLE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.
